FR. REGINALD GARRIGOU-LAGRANGE, O.P., ON HOW TO CARRY THE CROSS

We know that we should not ask the Lord for crosses that He judges inopportune to send us because of our weakness. We know that we should not despise the small crosses, since the great ones can make us proud. We know that it is not enough to admire the crosses of the saints, and also that there is nothing more unsupportable than to put on airs of being martyrs when in reality we are not.

We should, then, dismiss these deplorable illusions. We should no longer complain of suffering from the faults of others when we make others suffer even more. We should learn to bear the crosses that the Lord sends us: not those that are pleasing to us, but those pleasing to Him. We must teach ourselves to bear them with resignation, love, and gratitude.

With resignation. It is indeed necessary to suffer. Modern progress, which seeks to suppress the cross like those "enemies of the cross" of whom St. Paul speaks (Phil. 3:18), will never attain what it desires. Even if it did manage to diminish pain in the physical order, what can it do in the moral order? It is necessary to suffer. If we vex ourselves like the bad thief, our irritation will only increase our suffering. Our Lord asks us to allow Him to work— to allow Him to work to reproduce His image in us.

With love. Our Lord does not ask us to love suffering in itself, but to love it as a means of salvation, just as a very bitter medicine that will give us back our health can be loved. We are not asked to feel this love in a sensible way, but to give proof of it by persevering, despite tribulations, in the practice of our religious duties, especially prayer. Jesus expects us to turn to him with ardent prayer, because he has already decided to hear us and to lead us much higher than we ourselves could desire. Therefore, we should love the cross for the love of souls and gladly accept being associated with Our Lord in His work of redemption.

With Gratitude. The cross is necessary for us. The Lord tries us only because He loves us, because He wishes to assimilate us to Himself, to spiritualize our sensibility, to supernaturalize our spirit, to give us a more exalted knowledge of ourselves and of Him, and also to give us a stronger love. Together with humility, the cross develops in us the three virtues which are properly divine and are the heart of the Christian life: faith, hope, and charity. The cross makes our soul similar to the soul of Christ, and therefore similar to God.

Consecration of the Sick to Mary: O kind and good Mother, whose own soul was pierced by the sword of sorrow, look upon us while, in our sickness, we arraign ourselves beside Thee on the Calvary where Jesus hangs. Dowered with the high grace of suffering, and hopeful of fulfilling in our own flesh what is wanting in our sharing of Christ's passion, on behalf of His Mystical Body, the Church, we consecrate to Thee ourselves and our pain. We pray that Thee will place them on that Altar of the Cross to which Jesus is affixed. May they be little victims of propitiation for our salvation, for the salvation of all peoples. O Mother of Sorrows, accept this consecration. Strengthen our hopeful hearts, that as partakers of Christ's sufferings we may also share in his comfort now and for evermore. Amen.
